NO. 25—HUNDREDTH YEAR | VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, SATURDAY, JANUARY 11, 1958 | SECOND NEWS SECTION

Intermunicipal Committee Delays Action

'Better Security, Segregation Will Hold Older Delinquents'

Ash Stresses Area's Need For 'Tighter' Juvenile Home

The new Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee voted yesterday to ask the attorney-general about possible changes in juvenile delinquency legislation before coming to conclusions on what should be done locally about juvenile delinquents.

A delegation will, however, suggest at once to the attorney-general that someone be given the authority to act as a magistrate at night to the extent of ordering troublesome delinquents held in the lockup instead of being sent to the juvenile foster home.

FOUR-POINT PLAN

The committee had before it, at its first meeting, a four-point plan to correct unsatisfactory conditions at the Juvenile Foster Home on Colquitz Road.

The plan called for lowering of the maximum age of juveniles admitted for detention at the home, appointment of a probation officer divorced from the police department, holding of juvenile court in the city twice a week, and appointment of a single magistrate to handle juvenile cases in Greater Victoria.

CRUX OF TROUBLE

Reeve Arthur Ash of Saanich said yesterday he thought the "crux of the whole trouble" was that the area lacked facilities for a proper juvenile detention home. If the home had total - security accommodation and provision for segregation of age groups, he said, there would be no need to ask for reduction of the juvenile age-limit from 18 to 16.

Reeve Fred Norris of Oak Bay agreed with Reeve Ash that a new home was desirable.

WAIT AND SEE

He opposed making any representations on the age limit, because, he said, the provincial government was setting up a study of juvenile delinquency which should provide the answer.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt suggested that the top floor of the city jail could be completely separated from the rest, with a separate entrance, to form a new juvenile detention home, but other committee members doubted that the law would permit this type of accommodation.

Teachers' Dispute

Board To Seek Referee

Salary dispute between Greater Victoria school board and area teachers is expected to go to arbitration following a meeting of the board Monday.

Bargaining committees of the two groups were scheduled to meet Monday but the meeting was called off yesterday afternoon.

OTHER ARRANGEMENTS

Kenneth Leeming of the board's finance committee said last night other arrangements had been made for handling the matter.

The teachers' original demand was for an 18 per cent increase. The board offered an average of 6 per cent and the teachers termed it "unsatisfactory."

BOARD'S RIGHT

The teachers did not ask for arbitration but, under the Public Schools Act, the board can also ask for arbitration and is expected to do so in order to bring matters to a head before the Feb. 14 deadline.

Paris Meeting Pearkes' Topic

Defence Minister George Pearkes will speak on "NATO and the Summit Conference in Paris" at a meeting in Victoria College auditorium Tuesday at 12.30 p.m.

The meeting is sponsored by the students' Progressive Conservative Club at the college.

Efforts of Jaycees Called 'Impertinent'

Victoria and Saanich may establish a special committee to decide on the best way to investigate amalgamation.

Mayor Percy Scurrah will recommend to city council finance committee Monday that it approve this idea, and Reeve Arthur Ash will make the same recommendation to Saanich councillors, they decided yesterday at the first meeting of the new Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee.

NORRIS WINS POINT

Coun. Charles Nelles of Saanich at first suggested that a sub-committee of the intermunicipal committee should be established for the purpose, but Reeve Fred Norris of Oak Bay argued that the committee should be entirely separate.

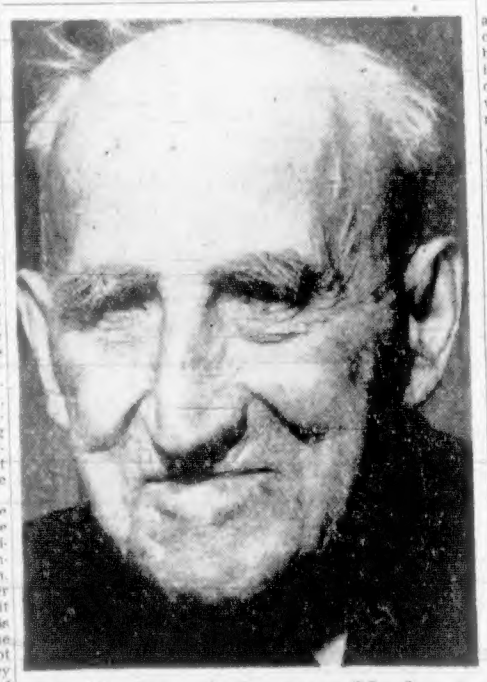

Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt proposed, unsuccessfully, that the intermunicipal committee should investigate merging of additional services. Esquimalt council was not against this sort of an investigation, he said.

But he lashed out at the Junior Chamber of Commerce for its effort to obtain Esquimalt support for a royal commission study of amalgamation.

Referring to a Jaycee letter to Esquimalt council, he said it contained "a great deal that is damned impertinent," and he also said the Jaycees were not pointing out that the study they wanted would be by a royal commission—"not a word about the cost."

Projectionists Accepted

Victoria Labor Council this week voted to accept another affiliate—the 37-member B.C. Projectionists Union, Local 348, Victoria Branch.

He Passed Century Mark

Victoria's 101-year-old resident, Lawrence Tremaine Lea, died Thursday. Retired contractor still smoked "anything going" on his 100th birthday and felt fine for it. Born in Prince Edward Island, he lived here with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Lea, 1413 Andrews Road. Funeral services will be at McCall's chapel Monday at 1 p.m.

'Make Check On Cheques'

Victoria city police are asking city merchants to take extra precautions in cashing cheques.

Chief Constable John Blackstock said yesterday there had been a number of bad cheques cashed in Victoria in the past week. "Know the customer, check the cheque," he advised.

Rockets Blast Airdrome

COURTENAY—(CP)—Officials of the RCAF base at Comox said they are investigating the accidental firing of a group of rockets from a CF-100 jet fighter while it was undergoing ground inspection by technicians. The incident occurred Tuesday night.

All of the rockets landed on the airport surface and there were no injuries to personnel. No damage was reported although holes were blasted into the mud at one end of the field.

The RCAF said the firing occurred during a routine inspection. Safety precautions observed at the time prevented injury, they said.

NANAIMO — Because Reginald James Fagan produced his father's drivers licence for police inspection, Mr. Fagan, Sr., must do without it for the time being.

Young Fagan was fined $25 in police court yesterday for driving on another person's licence. The licence was impounded until his father can prove that he was unaware that his son was without a licence of his own.

This was what the youth claimed in court, adding that his dad had handed over his wallet so that his son would have the pink insurance slip available if necessary. The licence was also in the wallet.

COURTENAY — Lawrence Hellam lost all his belongings when a B.C. Packers-owned boat he was living on caught fire yesterday.

Fire was caused by a flooded oil stove and damage to the boat, which was anchored in Courtenay Slough, was estimated at between $300 and $500. Courtenay Volunteer Fire Department extinguished the blaze.

NANAIMO—The B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation has been asked to study a proposal that juvenile laws be revised in this country.

The proposal came Thursday night from the Nanaimo Parent-Teacher Council.

It was the local Pauline Haarer PTA which advocated that parents should be made responsible for the actions of erring juveniles as in the state of Michigan.

The recommendation was put forward following a recent panel discussion in which a UBC professor had said that the responsibility of juvenile delinquency lay at the parents' door.

NANAIMO—Jaycees here will run a blood drive next Tuesday and Wednesday at the Canadian Legion Hall. The target is 1,000 pints.

* * *

NANAIMO—Nanaimo Kiwanis and Hub City Kiwanis will hold a joint installation night on Jan. 28. Installing officer will be Lt.-Gov. John Lewis of Port Angeles.

NANAIMO—A man described yesterday as a friend of Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts was wrongly named. Charged with driving without due care and attention and fined $25 by Ladysmith Magistrate W. H. Bryant when the Nanaimo magistrate stepped down from the bench, was Cyril Barclay of Departure Bay.

* * *

NANAIMO — Mothers March on Polio and Child Care will be held in Nanaimo, Feb. 1. The drive is sponsored by the Kinsmen.

NANAIMO — New secretary-treasurer of Nanaimo Junior Camber of Commerce is Lloyd Blanco. He replaces Ray Pauls.

Two Days Too Soon To Possess Beer

NANAIMO—Two days before his 21st birthday, Walter Inglis was found with beer in his possession at Whisky Creek.

A quick check on dates was necessary when Inglis gave his age as 21 in police court, after pleading guilty to illegal possession of an intoxicant. The youth was charged Dec. 29. His birthday was Dec. 31. He was fined the minimum of $10.

No Smugness In Oak Bay Norris Replies

Unemployment Charge By Union Man Denied

Accusation that Oak Bay council has a "smug" attitude toward unemployment in the municipality was denied last night by Reeve Fred Norris.

* * *

The charge came from Victoria Labor Council machinists' delegate Robert Noble following receipt of a letter to the labor body in which Oak Bay said "there are no areas within the municipality that could come under the term 'urban redevelopment' and therefore could not qualify for such (federal) assistance."

JUST TELLING TRUTH

The municipality was replying to a letter urging Oak Bay to seek assistance of the federal government in urban redevelopment in the area.

Last night Reeve Norris said council was not being smug in its reply—it was just telling the truth.

"So far as I know there have been no federal government grants made for urban redevelopment west of Toronto," he said. "However, Oak Bay is now going ahead with a $30,000 road project during the winter, and work is proceeding on the new municipal hall."

BOWKER CREEK

Referring to Bowker Creek, specifically mentioned by VLC IWA delegate Jack McKenzie as a source of winter work to employ more people, Reeve Norris said council had done as much as it could with the creek last summer.

Now, he said, 65 per cent of water from the Oak Bay watershed which normally drained into the creek was handled by a new drainage system.

In Greater Victoria as a whole, the employment picture showed improvement this week with the number of unemployed men rising only 12.

There are 4,530 men and 1,379 women registered with the Victoria office of the National Employment Service.

The "Do It Now" phase of Greater Victoria's Winter Employment Committee, aimed at creating winter work for unemployed persons, will officially begin Jan. 18.

One-Night Stay

Ross Host To Queen Mother

Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, will be a guest of Lieut.-Gov. Frank Ross and Mrs. Ross at their Vancouver home during a one-day rest there while she is en route to Australia and New Zealand.

The Queen Mother arrives at Vancouver during the evening of Jan. 28 on a non-stop flight from England.

The lieutenant-governor's office said last night she would leave to continue her journey the next evening.

The Vancouver visit is not official, a spokesman said, but the Queen Mother will pay a call on Mayor Fred Hume at the city hall.

Everyone Delighted With Polio Response

Response of Greater Victoria residents to the anti-polio vaccination campaign which ended last night was a shot in the arm for the hundreds of doctors, nurses and helpers.

More than 90 per cent of the persons who took their second anti-polio injection in June lined up this week to have the third and final shot.

And both St. Joseph's Hospital and Royal Jubilee Hospital reported yesterday was the busiest day ever in any stage of the campaign—St. Joseph's handled 1,629 persons and Royal Jubilee handled 1,864.

Dr. G. F. Homer, president of the Victoria Medical Society, said last night officials were "absolutely delighted" with the response.

"It exceeded all expectations," he said.

Sunken Derrick To Surface Today

An Island Tug and Barge Ltd. derrick, the "Skookum," will be out of its 30-foot deep grave in West Bay today.

A company official said the derrick, sunk when it struck a deadhead Dec. 23 was to be raised overnight.

Scouts Appeal for Donations

Help Scarred Baby!

Three Mount Tolmie Cubs who have adopted fire-scarred Beverley Durocher, 3, last night appealed for donations of clothes and utensils badly needed by the family.

Later, they plan to open an appeal to pay for plastic surgery operations needed by the child.

The boys are Albert Yates, 3407 Doncaster, Russell Flower, 1296 Derby, and Gary Burgess, 3810 Epsom. They are members of Mount Tolmie "B" pack.

Tiny Beverley who was scarred in a fire some 10 months ago has undergone seven plastic surgery operations at St. Joseph's Hospital. She returned to her home shortly after Christmas.

Leader of the Cub pack to which tthe three boys belong, Allan W. Smith, said last night the boys were concentrating first on obtaining goods the family needed.

Play clothes and overalls are needed for Beverley—size 4—six-year-old Mabel needs clothing in size 6. Beverley's father needs large work shirts. the house needs curtains, a bassinet is urgently needed for the newest member of the family, 3½-month-old "Rusty," canned vegetables and fruit are needed for the baby, all the children need rubbers and a kitchen table, chairs and pots and pans would be welcomed.

Donations of goods or money may be sent to Mr. Smith at 579 Whiteside, phone 9-2120. He has already been promised donations of money and bottles which the boys can sell.

And tomorrow, during a "father and son" hike from Langford to Millstream, Mr. Smith plans to appeal to the fathers of his Cubs.

Overdue Tax Dribbling In

Notices sent to firms that failed to pay business tax by the mid-December deadline have had a good effect, City Comptroller Dennis Young said yesterday, and the last $5,000 or so regarded as collectible "is coming in bit by bit."

Mr. Young said the tax department was in the midst of the trades-licence rush at present, and that as a result the first business-tax cases were not likely to be brought into court before the end of the month.

No Drama —Just Routine

Cadboro Bay waterfront watchers yesterday thought they were watching a drama of a tug trying to save a sinking barge.

Island Tug and Barge Ltd. officials reported, however, a "routine problem" of one compartment of a chip barge, being towed by the Island Rover, leaking water. It was pumped out and the barge righted from its 20-degree list without difficulty.

What's Cooking! By Frances Thompson

Confusion Arises Over Use of Foil

As a self-inflicted rule I only use this space to answer letters which are of general interest. All [illegible] get a personal answer. Here's case in point. Far too shy to quote the letter in its entirety this reader raises a very interesting point — and I quote, as the idiotic saying goes, "I should be glad if you would answer a question for me in your column some day regarding aluminum foil. A dietician told me that it makes a great difference in the speed of baking and roasting meat etc. which side of the foil is next the meat. Then, she claims, the dull on the outside draws the heat to the roast while the bright side repels heat and cooking is therefore much slower." End of quotes, as they say. W-e-l-l. I don't quite know what to answer. My commonsense tells me that the woman is right. But somehow I don't think it is one of life's major problems, do you? I'll fool around with both methods and will report to you later.

In the meantime what are we going to have to eat over the weekend? Most of us are sick and tired of poultry so how about some good beef? Keeping in mind our restricted budgets after the festive season, what would you think of the following?

STUFFED FLANK STEAK

One flank steak (allow about ¼ pound per serving); 2 cups stuffing (recipe follows); 2 tablespoons lard or dripping; 6 potatoes; 6 carrots; 6 stalks celery; salt and pepper.

Spread steak with stuffing and roll lengthwise. Tie it up to hold in shape. Brown it all around in the hot fat on top of the stove. Add all the suggested vegetables. Now, you can either continue cooking on top of the stove or, better still, cook in a slow oven covered of course until very tender. You may have other ideas but here's my suggestion for stuffing . . .

CORNMEAL STUFFING

One cup cornmeal; 1 cup boiling water; 1 tablespoon butter; 1 teaspoon baking powder; 1 medium onion, very finely chopped; salt and pepper; ½ teaspoon thyme.

Just pour the boiling water over cornmeal and add the other ingredients. Mix very well and if there seems too much for the flanked steak you can make it into small balls and cook these alongside in the baking pan.

Next comes a suggestion for your Sunday night TV supper. It's so easy and yet so tasty. Leave out the curry powder if you have youngsters.

EGG CURRY

Two tablespoons butter or margarine; 2 tablespoons flour; 1 teaspoon curry powder; 1 small onion, very finely chopped; salt and pepper; 1½ cups milk; 4 hard-boiled eggs; 1 cup cooked rice.

Make a sauce in the usual way of the butter, flour and milk. Add the curry powder, chopped onion and seasonings. Separate the hard-cooked yolks from the hard-cooked whites—chop the latter and add them to the sauce along with the rice. When all is piping hot turn the mixture on to toast, or into patty shells, and garnish with the grated egg yolks. This suggestion is not only colorful but very tasty.

Talking of curry powder which most adults love, here's a suggestion for those Sunday night sandwiches . . .

CURRY BUTTER

Quarter cup butter; ½ teaspoon curry powder; dash of paprika and celery salt. Just cream the butter and add the remaining ingredients. Store in refrigerator for a tasty spread and re-cream before using.

And if you and yours are fond of curry flavoring try this next suggestion some time soon . . .

CURRY SALAD DRESSING

Half teaspoon curry powder; 2 tablespoons tarragon vinegar; 4 tablespoons olive oil; ½ teaspoon celery salt; ½ teaspoon onion juice (have you ever tried that bottled variety?)

All you have to do is blend the curry powder with the vinegar and then shake all the ingredients well together. This simple little dressing will give a lift to any salad.

TRICK OF THE DAY

Mrs. J. M. sends in this one about which I have to think twice . . . "To stop fruits and nuts sinking to the bottom of cakes heat them in the oven and then mix them in a little flour before adding to batter."

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

GROOMING TRICK. Should bushy eyebrows be your plaint, you can and should reshape them by using this trick:

Lightly apply pomade or wisp stick to brows. Then with eye-pencil, draw an outline of the exact shaping you desire. Next brush strands to conform with outline, as nearly as possible. And lastly, pluck the nonconformists.

Throughout, be cautious about removing hairs from top line of brows; take them from the underside and from the space between. If thinning is indicated, operate on the undergrowth, never on the top growth.

This method prevents mistakes in plucking—those "bald" patches that have to be pencilled in for weeks while hairs grow back. Better still, it achieves a frame worthy of your eyes.

Auxiliary Spends $2229 in Year

Annual reports given at the meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary No. 12, Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans, on Thursday, Jan. 9, showed an active and successful year under the guidance of Mrs. May Bennett, president.

Mrs. Bennett stressed the addition of many charities and thanked the members for their untiring efforts throughout the year.

Mrs. V. Barry, treasurer, reported that $2,229.36 had been expended during the year.

Mrs. M. Bennett, hospital and sick visiting, reported that 266 visits had been made during the month of December. The Christmas visit to patients at the Veterans Hospital and distribution of cigarettes, tobacco, candy bars and matches was increased to include 58 additional gifts of $1 each. During the year 875 visits were made and 13 funerals attended.

CHEVRON GASOLINES GIVE THE TESTED ANSWER!

STANDARD CHEVRON

Goodbye, frayed driving nerves—good riddance to cold-weather stalling! Our cold damp British Columbia winters used to mean stalled hold-ups at traffic lights and intersections—until Chevron Detergent-Action Gasolines introduced DMF! Last winter tens of thousands of B.C. drivers tested Chevron Gasolines with DMF—proved that they guard against the tiny ice crystals that form around the throttle valve when ordinary gasoline vaporizes. So fill up today with Chevron Supreme or Chevron Regular—(both with DMF)—and discover the tested answer to winter stalling!

STEWART & HUDSON
COMPLETE BUILDING MATERIAL SERVICE
WHEN BUYING LUMBER
You naturally consider the various factors which enter into the transaction such as the grade and quality, the lengths, the species, the size, the availability—the price—the delivery, the terms. All these points must be considered before you are satisfied that you are obtaining the best value for your outlay. We believe that we at Stewart & Hudson are able to offer you the best selection and value in building lumber because of—

WE WILL FINANCE YOUR LUMBER PURCHASES
Take advantage of our credit plans for home builders and contractors. Special arrangements offered to meet your building program.
IT'S CENTENNIAL YEAR
And a good year to consider renovating your present home. Older homes offer bargains in terms of livable space and when brought up to 1958 standards will give you greater living comfort and convenience, more security on your investment and a higher resale value of your property. Stewart & Hudson will finance all building materials for home modernization and if required will include contractors' labor, electrical, plumbing work, etc. Take advantage of our generous terms at the lowest financing rates in town.
WORTH REPEATING
Yes, it's worth repeating that Stewart & Hudson have the complete color range of new Flamenco line floor tiles. The smartest color combinations in town, with colors and patterns to harmonize in any room. Why not be among the first to have a new tile floor in that kitchen, bathroom or hall. Best of all, due to Stewart & Hudson carload buy, these extra quality floor tiles cost no more at only, per 9x9 tile 12c
REAL VALUE WITH INSULATING WALLBOARD
Yes, it's cheaper and easier to use insulating wallboard that's factory painted. No further finish needed, easy to saw and nail, looks smart and modern, too. For those cracked ceilings, use Simpson Ceiling Tiles, available in four sizes. New tongue and groove joint, easy to Bestlich in place. See the comparison of old and new in our showroom.

TV TALK

By Bruce Lowther

TV dictionary, wild style:

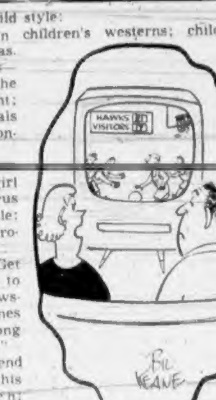

Adults—actors in children's westerns; children—actors in adult dramas.

Commercials—Necessary evils, or, the pause for refreshment; culture — commercials that are "arty" or "conversation pieces."

Dolly in—The producer promoted his girl friend from the chorus to the starring role; dolly back—the producer got fired.

Entertainment—Get more out of life, go to something "live"; newscast—a few headlines almost lost among sponsors' "messages."

Pay-TV—The end of the rainbow, but this one they'll reach; ratings—the only figures more important than Jayne Mansfield's.

"They've scored 21—isn't the game over?"

Station break—What the net work will do to the station that refuses to take any more westerns; teeth—you can't get a TV job, especially singing, unless you show 32 all the time.

Western—Backbone of a spineless industry; violence—cheap way to get an audience (opposite of comedian—expensive way to get no audience).

* * *

TV BITS: Items to watch today are Lester Pearson and other Nobel prize winners getting the Mike Wallace treatment, the football special, "The Yearling" and "Quartet" . . . Courtenay city council has officially endorsed the plan of Vancouver radioman Billy Browne to operate a radio station there . . . Cable stringing for Campbell River's wired TV is said to have started this week . . . English commercial TV executive C. O. Stanley has predicted that a $42,000,000 trans-Atlantic TV cable will be laid in place within four years . . . Scotland's Anglican church is checking complaints about the low moral content of the new commercial TV.

For those who asked, Red Skelton filmed six shows before his recent illness—enough for another four weeks now . . . More belt-tightening in Hollywood: Warners has decided it will make no more low-budget films . . . Hecht-Hill-Lancaster, money-loving moviemakers, lost money on a movie last year for the first time. It was "Sweet Smell of Success" . . . Alfonso Bedoya, who played the bandit "Gold Hat" in the fine movie "Treasure of the Sierra Madre," died in Mexico City, Dec. 15. He was 53 . . . It's old news now, but it should be mentioned that the new owner of Seattle rock 'n' roll radio station KJR is Frank Sinatra.

BUILDERS SASH & DOOR
SEASON'S SPECIAL
Here's a real bargain to start off the new year. Just in time for boat building season. These extra long panels of Fir Plywood are ideal for most types of small boats. We cannot fully describe the specifications but do say it's made up with marine glue but not guaranteed all solid core. It is the perfect plywood if you plan a fibreglass skin as finish. At these prices it's almost ½ the price of regular marine boat plywood. Naturally quantities are limited as shown.
2 pcs. 36"x144" x¼" G.1.S. $5.76
3 pcs. 36"x120" x¼" G Solid $5.40
4 pcs. 36"x144" x¼" G Solid $5.48
1 pc. 36"x192" x¼" G Solid $8.64
34 pcs. 48"x120" x¼" G Solid $7.20
26 pcs. 48"x144" x¼" G Solid $8.64
5 pcs. 48"x168" x¼" G Solid $10.08
9 pcs. 48"x192" x⅜" $11.52
1 pc. 36"x144" x⅜" $7.82
10 pcs. 48"x168" x⅜" $12.32
6 pcs. 48"x180" x⅜" $13.20
12 pcs. 48"x192" x⅜" $14.08
Also available on order some ½" Thickness at 29c sq. Ft.—and ¾" Thickness at 39c sq. Ft. in the same quality.

Transfer of Files Won't Aid Jobless

Unemployment Insurance Commission officials are of the opinion that transfer of records here from Vancouver would not expedite payment of insurance benefits, Donald S. Douglas, unemployment committee chairman, told Victoria Labor Council Wednesday night.

Council at its previous meeting decided to write the commission in Ottawa to ask that "proper files" be established here.

Mr. Douglas said commission officials said delays in receiving benefits were usually due to failure of the applicant to follow correct procedures.

He asked the delegates to treat commission officials and especially clerks with "as much courtesy as possible" since "the tension up there is terrific" when line-ups of those seeking insurance benefits become long.

Teamsters' delegate James Pennock stated that a commission employee had told him that his claim for higher benefits was held up while files arrived from Vancouver.

"We haven't dropped the subject," said Mr. Douglas. An advisory committee meeting of the commission is coming up.

B.C. Electric Staffs Ask 30 Per Cent

Some 1,500 office workers and field crew members, 160 of them in Victoria, are asking for a 30 per cent wage boost from the B.C. Electric, it was learned last night.

The workers, members of Office Employees' International Union, Locals 300 and 378, are also requesting a 35-hour week, 2½ hours less than at present; three weeks' paid vacation after one year's service, four weeks after 15 years' service, and three months' holiday after 25 years' service for that year only; elimination of the female differential; and other fringe benefits.

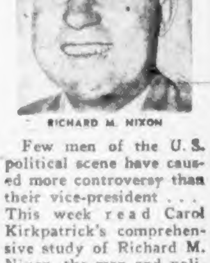

Average base rate after three years' service is $349 for men, and after two years' service, $216 for women.

Negotiations have started in Vancouver where the majority of workers are located.

Garden Notes

They'll Kill, All Right

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Over the past year, I have had quite a few letters from readers complaining that the commercial insecticide dusts and sprays they used had no effect at all upon the pests they were supposed to control. At the risk of offending some of these correspondents, I think I can safely say that any such failures must be due to improper application, for there is nothing wrong with the materials.

Under Canadian law, it is virtually impossible for an ineffective bug poison or fungicide to find its way on to a dealer's shelf. Every such product must be registered in Ottawa, and the registration number quoted on the carton or bottle. Every ingredient must pass a rigid government test, not only for its bug-killing ability, but to determine its safety for use on food crops.

There are NO secret formulas among the insecticide manufacturers, for a list of the ingredients and their proportions must be printed on the label of every package. Pick up any carton from your garden medicine cupboard and you'll see the whole prescription fully revealed.

There is an interesting byproduct stemming from this body of rigid law governing the marketing of garden products. Because everyone knows what's in the package, the advertising claims are moderate and reasonable, and this is a remarkable and refreshing change from the fantastic fairy stories in the advertisements in foreign publications. The claims made in some garden product advertising, even in conservative British magazines, are unbelievably exaggerated.

If the efficacy of our Canadian bug-killers is guaranteed by law, then why is it that they fail sometimes to do the job for which they are intended?

In the first place, no matter how good an insecticide may be, it won't kill bugs unless it comes in contact with them. Spraying once or twice through the season is not enough, for heavy rains and dews wash off the protective covering, and more important still, new shoots are always emerging from the plant—young, succulent stuff, most appetizing to the bugs—which has no spray coating at all.

Another factor is the amazing speed with which some of the bugs breed and reproduce. By spraying thoroughly, you could kill every adult greenfly on a rose bush, but your spray will have no effect on the eggs, and within a few days another generation has hatched out to continue sucking the juices from your plant.

The female greenfly, too, goes through a period in her life cycle when she bears her young live rather than laying eggs; moreover, she can do this without benefit of a husband. Following a spraying, it is quite a common thing for her to give birth to young aphis while in her death throes, and so the cycle of life continues.

The best way to clean up a bad insect infestation is to apply your spray or dust at least three times, spacing the applications several days apart. In this way you can bump off the younger generation, just out of the egg, before they get to breeding on their own.

The Viewing World

By John Crosby

Facing Blunt Facts

In its newspaper ads for "Where We Stand," the hour-and-a-half-long documentary comparing the resources of the United States and Russia, CBS-TV declared that it was "the most important television report to the people it ever presented." Since CBS news has done some pretty remarkable reports in the past, those are pretty strong words but, I think, justified.

My own way of judging not only documentaries but anything on television is to assess, first, its importance and, secondly, how well done it is. The subject matter in this case is, heaven knows, the world's most important and it was extremely well produced. At the very outset, Walter Cronkite declared that for the last three months CBS has been seeking out the truth about missiles. "Whatever the facts, we must know them and face them."

In a sense, that was what the program was about — knowing and facing the facts, including some very unpleasant ones. That means that not all the facts are startlingly new. Many of them had been hashed over before but to put the whole problem of military and economic resources into perspective, they had to be stated again.

CBS correspondents talked to a host of experts, starting with Dr. John Hagen, chief of the Vanguard project, who said among other things that a satellite is in itself a very dangerous missile.

* * *

Others interviewed included Gen. James M. Gavin, the man who just resigned as Army missile chief, reputedly because he was dissatisfied with the speed of the program; Gen. Omar Bradley, looking and old, and Gen. Bernard Shriever, a cool customer who is director of the Air Force missile program. None of these gentlemen were exactly optimistic but none was exactly pessimistic. Realistic, I guess, is the word for it.

Said General Shreiver at one point: "I think it's safe to say they (the Russians) have IRBM's in operational units. We have not." At another point, Alexander Kendrick, prowling around a huge missile pad, harboring an enormous Titan, declared: "This is the biggest missile in the world—unless the Russians have a bigger one." This tone of ordinary common sense prevailed.

* * *

The hour-and-a-half program shot past mighty fast and closed with what amounted to an editorial by Smith. This in itself is news. CBS, in the person of its president, Frank Stanton, once argued on behalf of the network's right to editorialize but then never has used the right, to my knowledge, until this broadcast.

Parts of the editorial, that we must catch up with the Russians in missiles, that we must re-examine our educational program, are hardly controversial. But other bits were. For instance: "We should be prepared to use every reasonable opportunity to negotiate for disarmament" is anathema to Secretary Dulles and his followers (if he has any).

Certainly the charge that we, the people, may be "over-addicted to physical comfort," "indifferent to good government" and "overly-complacent" is as stiff an indictment of its listeners I have ever heard a network indulge in. And finally, the statement that it is the system, not the men, which must be changed in the Pentagon to eliminate inter-service rivalries is refreshingly blunt.

Hollywood Today

By Sheilah Graham

Prodigal Ingrid to Return

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Ingrid Bergman will be returning to Hollywood to work at the end of the summer. Part of "To Thank a Fool," which Peter Glenville directs, will be filmed here.

It has been nine years since Ingrid made a picture in Hollywood. Her last three movies—"Arch of Triumph," "Under Capricorn" and "Joan of Arc"—were flops. Which is one reason the ambitious and desperate actress wrote that "I love you" letter to a certain Roberto Rossellini, who was then at the peak of his directing fame.

* * *

Rossano Brazzi will be here for most of 1958, beginning at 20th-Fox in "A Certain Smile." . . . Twenty-five Italian noblewomen will play nuns with Audrey Hepburn in "The Nun's Story," to be made in Rome and the Belgian Congo.

* * *

More about Khrushchev and the planned picture, "The Four Men from Moscow." The story satirizing the visit of the Russians to London last year, shows Malenkov—since purged — visiting the British atomic power stations. Hope he wasn't shown too much.

* * *

Frank Sinatra, discussing Lauren Bacall: "She'll make a wonderful wife for somebody. But I will never marry another actress." This conversation was reported to me by one of Sinatra's chums, who added, "I believe he is still in love with Ava Gardner." Could be. When she calls, he goes to her . . .

Mark Berger and Dick Cowan, of Great Neck, N.Y., who played on the foursome that won the recent Westchester Team Championship, used to play weak no-trumps. "We abandoned them not too long ago," Berger reports, "for the reason that once your opponents have learned to defend against weakies you are bound to get your ears pinned back. For example, here's a hand from the Westchester event that may help to convince our North-South opponents that weak no-trumps are good only against weak adversaries."

Defending against the weak no-trump, many players use the method followed by Berger and Cowan: A double strongly suggests leaving in for penalties; a two-club bid demands a take-out by partner. In this deal, North and South actually had the preponderance of high cards by a narrow margin, but the defenders had the advantage of the opening lead and made it count for a lot.

Dummy covered with the ten of hearts and East's queen forced South's ace. Declarer led the queen of spades and West wisely allowed this to run to partner's ace. East returned the diamond ten and West let this run to dummy's king. On a spade play, South finessed the nine but West won with the ten and shifted to a club. East's ten forced South's king. Declarer's hand was now dead but he did not know it since he could not be sure which opponent held the ace of diamonds. So South persisted with the spades and West won with the king.

Another club lead from West gave declarer a chance to finesse dummy's jack, with the result that he never won another trick. East took the club queen and played the eight of diamonds. West collected three diamond tricks and when dummy ditched a heart East got rid of his last club. A heart play through North's jack-seven gave East the rest of the tricks for a four-trick 700-point penalty.

At the other table, South opened with one club, North responded with one heart, South bid one spade, North bid one no-trump and that contract was allowed to play undoubled since the enemy had no way to know of the weakness which South's opening no-trump bid had confessed to in the other room.
